Fellow Chevy Lovers:

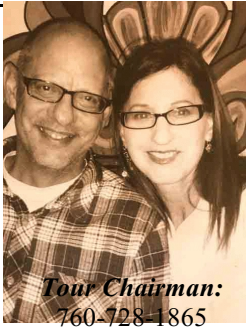

Monday November 8th, tomorrow evening will be our last meeting of 2021. This is the meeting we will elect new officers for 2022. I have been your director for about five years. There have been a lot of unique challenges due to Covid, no car show for 2020, virtual meetings, a few tours, wearing masks, lost our meeting room and sadly the loss of some of our devoted members, but we are here and came out of OK.

Thanks to Dennis, my assistant director for always being there when needed, Tom Clark CPA our treasurer who always kept an eye on the important details, stepped in when needed and carefully managed our finances. Thanks to Bill and Colleen Ingalls for keeping the Orange County Region informed with their great newsletter and to Colleen for serving as membership chair bringing in several new members.

Thanks to Jim Karras for the great job, he did as car show chairman and Sue Hergenreter for the wonderful raffle table, overall, resulting in a very successful show. Thanks to Sue, additionally for her job as secretary.

One of my favorite events has been the Picnic in the Park, even with all the rain this year it was still a successful and fun event, bringing in new members. Thank you to Gregg Bunch chair of this event and all the great cooking done by Fred Waugaman. Even with rain it was a fun event.

I have enjoyed my time as your director and look forward to continuing as a member. I will still be around doing what ever is needed to keep OCVCCA a lively chapter of VCCA – Gary

Twas the night before Christmas, and in the garage
There sat in the corner, a classic old Dodge
My sixty nine Charger, near ready to go
To all of next season's burnouts and shows

Its perfect black body, with a white R/T stripe
Red leather interior, the seats are just right
A pistol grip shifter coming up through the floor
Now hooked to a six speed, not five, and not four.

It sits with the hood up, not quite running yet
The problem elusive, but simple I bet
The four-two-six HEMI of legend and lore
"Why won't you run? I can't take it no more."

Now freshly rebuilt, this elephant mill
Just thinking about it gives me a chill
All of that horsepower, all of that torque
I can't make it run. I feel like a dork.

I'm about to turn in, and go off to bed
Thinking a good sleep should help clear my head
When ever so slightly, I hear someone's laughter
And jingle bells ringing, and hooves pitter-patter

"Is this for real?" I thought to myself
Could it be? The jolly old elf?
I opened the side door and had a look out
The sleigh that I saw removed any doubt

Across the street, he was making the rounds
Rooftop to rooftop, in leaps and bounds
Then he was gone, but the sleigh still remained
For what happened next, I'll have to explain

As I turned around, what do you know
Santa Claus himself, the star of the show
Was standing there, grinning, right there by the car
His pearly whites glistening, reflecting like stars

I stammered "S-Santa?!" And he started to snicker
I took a deep breath to calm down my ticker
He was checking it over, no angle undone
And then he said nicely, "Can I hear it run?"

I hated to say it, had no other choice
This problem I had with my Charger's voice
"I wish that we could, but I'm afraid not tonight.
It'll turn over, but it simply won't light.

I know it's ignition, of this I'm sure.
But I'm out of ideas. Do you have a cure?"

He pondered a moment, then scratched his chin.
"I have an idea. Why don't you jump in?"
I climbed in the car as he fiddled around
And he said "Aha! You have a bad ground.
This wire on the coil should be attached here."
And over he moved it, without any fear.

"Hit it!" he said, his grin growing wide
I pushed in the clutch and let out a sigh
I wiggled the shifter and hit the ol' key...
And it fired at once. I howled with glee!

The exhaust is so loud it rattles the walls
Santa yelled over it, "I bet this thing hauls!"
I killed it and jumped out, unable to speak
Santa had fixed it with one little tweak!

"You know about cars?" I finally asked.
"Oh, yes!" he replied. "My veins run with gas.
I work but one night, so with my spare time
I tinker and wrench, it sharpens the mind.
I have a collection that rivals the best
It's my preferred hobby when I am at rest."

I shook his hand thank you, we nodded goodbye
And with that he vanished in the blink of an eye.
As I went in to head off to bed,
I thought about everything Santa had said
Turns out he's a car guy! And now that you know,
Perhaps you'll see him – at your next show!

Growing old is hard work...
The mind says
"yes" but, the body says "what the hell are you
thinking"
